Amplifying my 251831 The Army Navy Communications Intelligence Board conclusion in full was as follows:

"That the Signal Intelligence relationship with the Chinese now in effect under the SACO agreement should be continued only as long as the arrangement is advantageous to the United States and it can be maintained without embarrassing reciprocal commitments".

You should make no new commitments under Article 18 without my prior approval. Desire to taper off and close out the Heagy unit and effort as rapidly as practicable but not so abruptly as to cause Chinese to refuse continuance of other activities of value to the US, particularly Weather Observation and Communication net and activities organized under Fruchi.

Termination of Article 18 should be permanent but if possible without controversy or rupture that would preclude new cooperation in this field if in the future that should become to the best interests of the US. Desire also to taper off Fruchi activities to emergency nucleus retaining privilege of re-expansion as and when needed.
